Our Community in Action

We are proud to announce Anthropocene to the Ecozoic Webinar Series launch. Webinar Series will happen once a month on Zoom, starting in February during the academic year, on the last Wednesday of each month at noon. Each webinar session will consist of 3 fifteen-minute talks with 5 minute Q&A in between. All webinars are going to be recorded and edited to be published on our web page. Some of the goals are: To promote the work, raise awareness and influence a broader public, to encourage E4A and L4E students and researchers to think about the policy implications of their research topics, to foster feedback for your research.
